What is Slam Jam?

Slam Jam is an exciting new way for 7 to 11 year olds to get involved with Basketball for the first time!

What is the aim?

The aim of Slam Jam is to introduce basketball to as many 7-11 year olds as possible in a fun, safe and engaging atmosphere. With a focus on improving physical literacy and the fundamentals of movement, using basketball related activities as a tool, we know that everyone who takes part in Slam Jam will fall in love with Basketball and want to make it their game for life!!

How is Slam Jam different?

It has been designed and created in partnership with both basketball and educational experts, as well as input from stakeholders and partners from outside the sport. So, whilst it is linked to the national curriculum it is still suitable for community and club delivery.

Who can deliver?

Once they have been approved as an accredited Slam Jam Delivery Partner then anyone - clubs, schools, community groups or other coaching organisations.

Where can Slam Jam be delivered?

Anywhere - as long as it is a safe space. Very little equipment (basketballs, bibs, cones) is needed for most of the activities.

Do I need to be a qualified coach?

No - to be a qualified Slam Jam delivery partner you just need to attend one of the Slam Jam activator courses. However, you will need additional qualifications (DBS, Safeguarding, First Aid) depending on where/who you will be delivering on behalf of.

What is Slam Jam Resource and how does it work?

- The resource is made up of A5 size animated cards depicting activities and contains further developments, coaching aids and key points for each activity.
- It can be delivered in 6-12 sessions, providing flexibility and adaptability to meet the needs of your provision.
- It covers four key areas- athletic movement and development, dribbling/passing/receiving, shooting and invasion (offence/defense).

Is there a cost to become an accredited Slam Jam delivery partner?

The simple answer is 'yes', however, it has been made as cost effective as possible to be widely accessible to a variety of partners.
